WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO AN-NOUNCE THE Hon. NAT. WOLFE AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS lection and to carry on the Government. DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST

The Cincinnati Gazette has some con meuts on the sentence of Valtandigham, which ought not to pass unnoticed, inasmuch as they give aid and comfort to the rebeilion:

Our Eastern cotemporaries, who have com rected on this arrest se nunecessary, do not appreciate the cutire situation. In the East, when the purpose of the hostility to the Government is amounced to be present separation, with a view to several Confederacles and ulterrior Intrigues for annexation, even the Copperends quail, and are forced to declare that separation is not to be consented to in any event.
But in the West the success of Secession, the recognition of Confederate Independence, the formation of a Northwestern Confederacy, and its subjection to the South, is a determined purpose, to be carried out by secret armed organizations and rebellion, as well as by open agitation to create disaffection.

There it is. In the West, it seems, there is a determined purpose of Secession and the formation of a Northwestern Confederacy to unite with the South; and the danger is imminent chough to call for extraordinary mea enres of repression. We don't know anything more grateful and encouraging to the rebellion than such news as this. Rebels will read it and congratulate each other that help is at hand. They will not be at all displeased at measures of repression; for these, they will indge, will only increase the determination. Here are the ideas of the Gazette on the freedom of discussion:

We believe in the greatest latitude of discussion, which has for its purpose the preservation of the Government and the putting down of rebellion, but we deny that there is liberty of speech or of the press any more than liberty of action, which is used with the intent to destroy the Government and establish the to destroy the Government and establish the rebellion on the ruins of the nation.

It is sometimes dishonestly charged that the hursh criticisms of those whose desire for the subjugation of the rebellion is undoubtedly sincere, are damaging to the Government, and therefore treasonable. This is usually offered by those who are conscious that their own irpose, as well as course, is treasonable. But there is no difficulty in distinguishing between homest loyal criticism and distoyal hostillty to the Government; and if there might be in any case, there is none in the case of Vallandigham, for he does not pretend any loyalty or desire for the preservation of the nation or for

This is the latitude Napoleon gives in France; the intitude given in all despotic countries where, according to the ideas we have had, there is no freedom of the press but the planters turned out and actually at all; freedom to discuss measures for the hunted them with blood-hounds the next support of the Government, but not with the merning. The question is, does the Gazette intend this effect? The editor can't help foresceing it, and, therefore, he may latend it.

Suppose a mau comes to the concinsion that an armistice and a conterence would end in restoring the Union, and that war will not, dangerous delusion, were such confidence to will the Gazette pretend that there is no reason at all for such an opinion? In our opin- that confidence is everywhere the parent of ion, the idea is gulte as rational as the supposed existence of this determination for a in jealousy and not in confidence; it Northwest Confederacy, which the editor be- is jealonsy, and not confidence, which prelieves in. Yet a man who would urge pesce scribes limited constitutions to bind down in order to a restoration of the anthority of the Government is a traitor, in the vocabulary of the Gazette. His position may give comfort to the rebellion; but certainly not as much as the news of the Gazette that there is a formidable intent in the Northwest to secede and join the South. Which, then, is the greater traitor-the Gazette or the peacemaker?

Some Republican papers, speak harshiy of the Administration. This gives aid to the rebellion; but the editor sneers at that. He can distinguish between the purposes of these editors and the purpose of others, such as Vallandigham.

Weil, the rule of judging is very simple. If a man belongs to the Gezette's party, he means well, and ought to be encouraged; if he does not, he means ill, and ought to be suppressed. Now, it is our opinion, and we are very positive and certain of its truth, that it is the poiicy and the language of the Gazette and its party that has united the robels, multiplied their numbers, and inspired them with Satanic energy. They are the party of aid and comfort to the enemy. They are the guilty.

We have been in the midst of Southern sympathizers from the start, have talked with them, debated with them, and we know where needsy, reassembled on Thursday. A long their strength lies. It is in the preaching and debate on the propriety of having "equal" practice of the Gazette and its party. An officer in Terry's regiment of Texan Rangers, in Wheeler's command, writing to his brother on the 21st, speaks of the propos ed raid into Kentucky as follows: Beyond doubt we will have to go to Ken beyond doubt we will have to got be ken-tucky soon, or starve out onreelves and horses. Rumor has it that we start as soon as we can cross the Cumberland. Wheeler's whole corps will go—he two divisions of Morgan and Wharton—five brigades in all, and three patteries of artillery. Another Texan Rauger, also iu Wheeler's command, writes that-

Our cavalry will ail go to Kentucky, I think as soon as the river gets low enough to cross-we sli want to go there to rig ourselves out. Everything is very acrace and high here—boots, $45@75; pants, $40; coats (uniform), $150; common horses, from $300 to $500.

The following is the opinion of a woma who writes to her brother in Morgan's cavalry As to the war, there is no probability of Ite ceasing. The Abolitionists are as anxious for separation as the Secessioniste, now that they are satisfied that they cannot abolish slavery, but the Democrats are determined to force the South into the Union.

DESIGNS OF THE KADICALE—PEACE WITH THE SOUTH—REVOLUTION AT THE NORTH.—By a telegraph dispatch from Washington, which we published yesterday, we learn that a clique of Philadelphia politicians calling themselves "loyal leagners," but better deserving the epithet 10 yal leagners, headed by Morton McMichael and Mayor Gilpin, had arrived at Washington, and that Senators Wade and Chandler and Mr. Forney are their invited guests. The object of the visit and the cancal is to organbisct of the visit and the cancus is to organ ize forces for the breaking up of all political organ zatious in the loyal States hostile to the Republican party, and for the suppression of every sentiment that is not in strict accord ance with the ideas of the radicals. The new movement is to begin in Philadelphia; but it is to be soon extended to other cities and ealities.

It is evident that the design of the Aboil tionists is to create an insurrection in the North, in order to obtain as excuse for making peace with the South. With the Gen peace with the South. With the Generals and the means they are employing they are nuable to put down the Southern rebellion, which was produced by the antislavery question, as was stated a few days ago by George Downing, the negro cyster man, at the Abolition convention in this city and tacity admitted by Garrison, Wendel Phillips, Greeley, and all the leaders present And now they propose to foment another re-bellion at the North by the suppression of free speech. But let them beware, lest, like Frankenstein, they raise another monster which they cannot quell.—[N. Y. Heraid.

the Philadelphia North American writes:

There is a vague rumor in circulation that, after the late battles and the death of Jackson, General Branregard was telegraphed to proceed to Richmond with all the force that could be spared from his department, and that he was daily expected to join the army, which now appears to be in an important position half way between Richmond and Fredericksburg. At Gordonsville there is also reported to be merciy sufficient to garrison the place, and give prompt notice to the main body of the army of any movement of our forces in that direction.

If the reported ordering of Beauregard to Virginia is correct, it would show that the rebels did not anticipate any renewal of the assault upon the defenses of Charleston for sometime to come, but in this they may be mistaken. It is doubtful in my own mild, however, whether the Charleston forces have been ordered to join Lee, though there have been certain developments of late which would seem to give color to auch a bellef. The rebels have such a way of handling their forces that it requires a most vigilant eye to penetrate their movements.

The query ls, how came these guns in so novel a position? There is no doubt but that they were secreted by old Jackson or his agents at the outbreak of hostilities in Misseuri, and they would most probably have been carried oil up to Jefferson City with the progress which he took from the mergine not powder which he took from the mag zine not far from where these guns were found, if he had not been confident that the place of their repose was a profound secret. WASHINGTON RUMORS .- Before Gen. Hooker started across the Rappahannock he tele-graphed to the War Department that he had "no further regulsitions to make, and that he expected no further orders." It is also stated that Gen. Hooker was authorized by the that Gen. Hooker was authorized by the President to report directly to him as Commander-in-Chief and not to Gen. Halleck as General-in-Chief, or to the War Office. Hence, when he was tormented by Gen. Halleck's frequent dispatches, he replied to one, reading, "What are you doing? I ask again—Halleck." thus: "I am minding my busness! Cannot you mind yours?—Hooker." And to another of like purport he answered: "Can't you let me aloue?" It is said, also, that all knowledge of the movement of the Army of the Potomac was withheld from the Cabinet. When Father Abr'am was questioned in Gabinet conneil, oy one who wanted to know what was going on, he said: "There are only two men in the United States who can tell. One is Gen. Hooker; he is not here to answer, One ia Gen. Hooker; he is not here to answer and the other man prefers to say nothing."

REBEL RAID ON THE KANAWHA.—The rebels in Western Virginia are particularly lively about these days. They have kept the South ern counties in hot water for some time past, and ou Weduesday made a dash between Summerville and Gauley, on the Kanawha river, capturing one company of the Second Vlr. ginia cavalry, together with a portiou of two companies of infantry. It is also reported by passengers from Charleston, Virginia, asys the Commercial, that they captured a train of forty wagons and 168 mules. Political Rebuke.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, one of the most influential as it is confessedly one of the most abie of the Administration prints in New Engiand, takes proper exception, in the following terms, to the order recently issued by Adjustnt General Thomas, summarily disorder than any other has been its upholder on the battle field and forget in their admiration of his privation. charge of having, at the late election in New Hampshire, circuiated "Copperhead tickets" -meaning the tickets supported by the Dem ocratic party in that State, who are thus char acterized by General Thomas as "Copperheada," who tever that may mean in the current political dialect of the times. The Repub-We had supposed that the objections to the

We had supposed that the objections to the order of Adjutant General Thomas by which Lieut. Edgerly was dismissed too obvious to need to be pointed out lu detail. The least objection to the order is the offensive language in which it is couched. "Copperhead" is a sing phrase, which an officer of the Government degrades himself and the Government by using in an official order of this sort. The licket circulated by Lieut. Edgerly was the regular Democratic State ticket. Some of the New Hampshire Democrata are undoubtedly regular Democratic State ticket. Some of the New Hampshire Democra's are undonbtedly "copperheads," that is, sympathizers with the rebellion, but the declared principles or which the party went into the election cannot be justly considered treasonable. If they sre, then nearly half the people of New Hampshire are traitors, as well as a large portion of the volunteers in our armies from that State. In accusing Lieut. Edgerly with doing all he could to promote "the rebel cause" in his State Adjutant General Thomas not only insuited the Democratic soldiers and people of New Hampshire, but he gross'y slandered them. It the Administration should adopt any such general policy it would be obliged to dismiss half its officers and at least a third of its soldiers at once. But the Administration is not thus demented; it has adopted no such policy. The natural explanation of the order is that it was nearly acceptance of no such policy. The natural explanation of the order is, that it was mercly an ontburst of the order is, that it was merely an outburst of the Adjutant General's expherant zeal in the cause of Republicanism, to which he had just been converted. As all young converts are apt to, he rather overdid the thing both in aubstance and manner. What particular offenses of L'eut. Edgerly may be known to the War Department it is impossible to say; he may have deserved dishourable expulsion from the service, but the fact that he circulated Democratic tickets in New Haupshire is not such an offense. His dismissai was a mistake—an isolated one, we are glad to say, and one that is not an indication of any purpose or policy of the Administration. cv of the Administration.

Hooker and Rosecrans-An English (From the Manchester Examiner, May 1.1

It is, however, on the Rappahannock and around Nashville that we may look for the most important incidents of the campaign. In presence of the great events which are to be decided there, all lesser matters are husbed. The Mississippi will roll along in peace for a time, and Charleston will be quiet, but from Transease and Victibia we may expect to be as Tennesare and Virginia we may expect to hear the crash of arms and the cries of battle. Speculation on the chances of war are always, nosafe, and the experience gained by the Amercan struggle proves that the best founded lean straggle proves that the best founded calculations may go wrong. All that can be said is that the armies are brave and the leaders skillful. If on one side the Federal army has been checked to its march to Richmond, no less has the Confederate force in its assaults on Nashville. Of the two positions it may be doubted which is the most valuable. It is highly questionable whether the capture of Richmond would able whether the capture of Richmond would compensate for the less of Nashville, though, judging from present prospects, as well as adding from present prospects, as well as ast experience, there accurs to be no reason o doubt that Roaccrans will hold what he has gaiued in Tennessee. The moral result of Federal success before Richmond would be very great, but stategically Nashville seems to be the more important position. It stretches nto the sonthern boundaries as far as Richmond advances into those of the North. It is a sort of watch tower from which the South may be observed, and the possession of it gnarantees to a considerable extent the poefor the Federal Government that they have here the most reliable and best tried General in their service. His career has been one of almost unbroken success. He has done nothing rashly brilliant, on he has tangue the Confederates to respect him, while his army has full confidence in htm. His abilities are of the substantial order, and his qualifications eminently fit him to carry ou a defensive war. The commander of the Rippahagnock army is not so well tried. He has proved bimself to be a bold leader, but he has now assumed the offensive against a most wary enemy, and he will need some other qualification than cour-age to carry him safety to his journey's end. Of the two commanders he has by far the most of the two chimisates are and probably in a few duys we shall learn whether he is worthy of the same degree of confidence which has been reposed in General Rosecrans.

It is highly creditable to the spirit a tempr of the people in the Loyal States the while waging war against a causeiess and necessary rebellion, they can stand over virines and military heroism the cause which he fell and the damage he has done which he fell and the damage he has done to the Government they sustain. Journals differ-ing as widely in their political views as the New York World and the Morning Chronicle of this city can unite in doing homage to the memory of a good and bave man whose en-argies were unhappily enlisted in a cause they both condemn. We condense the words of each, for, as the expression of a universal feeling among us, they are worthy of being placed in the nrn that holds his ashes.

[From the Washington Morning Chronicle,]
Stonewall Jackson is dead. While we are only too glad to be rid in any way of so terrible a foe, our sense of relief is not namingled with emotions of sorrow and sympathy at the death of so brave a man. Every man who possesses the slightest particle of magnanimity must admire the qualities for which Stonewall Jackson was celebrated—his herolsm, his bravery, his sublime devotion, his purity of character. He is not the first instance of a good man devoting himselfto a bad cause.

When England learned that the sunden death of the Emperor Nicholas had removed the great obstacle to their success in the Crimean war, the people were deilrions with joy. We hope and believe that no such brutal and unasemly exhibitious will disgrace the American people. They are nuworthy of a magnanimous nation and a stain upon humanity. Let us rather devonity acknowledge the Providence of God, who, while he smites that accorred land with famine and the people with madness, takes from their accursed cause its bravest, noblect, and purest defender. Stonewall Jackson was a great General, a brave soldier, a noble Christian, and a pure man. May god throw these great virtues against the sina of the secessionist—the advocate of a great national crime!

[From the New York World.]

It is creditable to the manhood of our Northern people that the news of the death of "Stonewail" Jackson has been received throughout the Union with a thrill not wholly alien from the emotions which it must have touched in those rebellions States, the lightnings of whose battle he had so often knuched against our armiles and our flag. As every nings of whose battle he had so often knuched against our armies and our fag. As every noble heart that beat beneath the red coats of the Farliament must have mourned the peerless Faikland; as every high-souled cavaller must have brushed seide an honest tear when Hampdeu fell, so our children will be proud to know that Northern valor sud Northern loyalty, the pride of the Northern citizen, paused in the hottest and sternest hour of our great sirnggle to honor the memory of the man whom he Union had found at once the most dangerons and the most consciory of the man whom he Union had found at once the most dangerons and the most conscientions, the most resointe and the most chivalrous of its foes. War is never so hateful as when it kills in man the supremely manike quality of justice to our enemies; and the spontaneous, irrepressible tribute which rose to all men's lips when they heard that the bravest of the rebel brave had died a soldier's death was a victory won by the heart and term bravest of the rebel brave had dled a soldier's death was a victory won by the heart and temper of the Northern people, on which the muse of history will linger perhaps with aomething like relief from her sad chronicle of "men arrayed for munual slanghter."

The Northern people honored in Jackson qualities which the worst cause cannot obscure. They respected the stacerity of the man as much as they admired the daring of the soldier. They believed him mislead, but they felt that he was no misleader. They lamented in his victories only this, that feats mented in his victories only this, that feats which reflected such renown upon American gallantry should have been performed in a cause so fatal to American hope; and not even the sense of gain we all must seel in the loss to the rebel hosts of such a captain, can make us stand otherwise than with uncovered heavis before the carly grove of a period chief. wis before the carly grave of a peroic chieftain, the example of whose high qualities the truest and most loyal soldier of the Union and the right may honorably lay to heart.

In view of the probable early retirement of Secretary Seward, Senator Summer's name has been mentioned as the successor. It is not believed, however, by his best friends that he would accept the position. He prizes the six years of senatorial service before him much more than the short term he would fill in the office of Secretary of State. His determined personsi opposition to Mr. Seward is another reason why he would not consent to step in his shoes.

DESCRIPTION OF WAY

News by Wednesday Evening's Mail.

-There has been considerable public ex pectation that General Price, of the rebel army, having been put in command of the army west of the Mississippi, would make another attempt to invade the State of Missouri, and for which there were strong indications to that effect. It is now stated, however, that Price has given up the idea of invading Missonri at present, and proposes to move against Heiens, Arkansas, under the impression, no doubt, that that point has been greatly weakened by the withdrawal of troops for the attack ou Vicksburg.

-Ex-Senator Joseph A. Wright, of Indiana who has been appointed by the President to represent and look after the interests of this country at the International Exhibition to open at Hamhnrg in July, has issued an ad dress to farmers, manufacturers, inventors and others, urging them to send their products for exhibition, so as to make the American department as complete as possible.

-A special dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday states that additional infor mation has been received in Washington hy the President from General Hnrlhut, who had dispatches from General Grant, confirming the evacuation of Vicksburg. The entire rebel force were moving northward to re-enforce Bragg, for the purpose of attacking Rose crans. The dispatch says they will fail in this as re-enforcements will be thrown forward not only to intercept the rebel movement, but to re-enforce Rosecrans.

-It appears from a special dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday that on the 18th inst. Capt. Stough, with a detachment of the Forty-fourth Ohio reglment, crossed the Cumberland river, in the southeastern portion of this State, and broke up a rebel encamp ment ten miles below Williamshurg. Refugees from near Cumberland Gap confirm the report that the rebels are conceutrating forces near the gap and along the line. The rehel troops are reported as ou very scaut rations. Humphrey Marshall is moving sgain on Hazei Green; with what force it is not stated.

-The War Department is about to enter pou more vigorous measures for calling out the full military strength of the negro population of the country. Gen. Thomas reports to the department that efforts in that direction have been attended with great success. It is stated that he is to go into Tennessee also, and there organize the negroes as in Missis-

-On Saturday last three or four hundred invalid soldiers discharged reached New York | 55c and duli. from Hilton Head, not one of whom had his papers signed by the surgeon of his department. The consequence was, as the New York Post says, that they were dumped on the dock, without means to get a meal, or a bed, or a passage to their homes. It was the henevolence of the New England Association alone which took them in out of the streets.

-The Indianapolis Sentinel of yesterday speaking of the great Democratic convention there being assembled, says that "the city was at $1, and Candlewick at $1@1 20 P D. fuil of people last night. Never was Indianapolis so crowded in advance of any convention ever held here." We shall look with much anxiety for the proceedings of this hody of western patriots.

-A cotemporary states that Coi. B. H Grierson, who made the late brilliant cavalry expedition through Mississippi into Lonisians, is a native of Pennsylvania, having heen born in Pittsburg in July, 1827. Early in life he emoved to Trumbuli county, Ohio, where he per lh. resided for fifteen years, and thence went to Jacksonville, Illinois, where he engaged in the produce husiness, and, to use his own words, *was siso a musician, heing abie to play on $14@-; 11 at $12@-; 12 at $12@-; 16 at $13@-; 9 at $14@-; 11 at $13@-; 5 at $16@-; 5 at $16. any instrument from a jewsharp to a handorgan." He was elected Major of the Sixth lilinois cavalry at its organization, afterward promoted to the Coionelcy, and in December, 1862, appointed to the command of the bri gade, with which he performed the marvelous feat to which we have referred to above. -The official instructions for the govern ment of the armies of the United States in the field, drawn up by Dr. Lieher, formerly President of a South Carolina college, and the well known editor of the Encyclopedia Americana, have just been published in fuli. The Dr.'s drait was revised by a Board of Odleers, of which Major General Hitchcock was President, approved by the President, and is now the recognized expression of the policy of the war.

The Situation Below. Though the news is confirmed of the cap ture of Jackson, Mississippi, by Federal troops, on the 13th or 14th inst., late reports are of a character which make it less satisfactoly than at first. It appears that while the main body of Graut's army was advancing upon the positions of the enemy on the Southern Mississippi railroad between Vicksburg and Clinton, a body of Union soldiers passed around to the right and entered Jack-son from the east. These were probably eav airy, and at the time of the capture it does tot appear that the enemy was in the town in arge force. The fighting at Raymond—the erminus of a short branch railroad seven miles long, running south from the Southern Mississippi—resulting, as it dld, in the retreat of Grerg and Bowen, may have thrown the rebels upon Jackson in larger force then the Federals had, and thus it is no sure thing that the town is now in our pos session. Our information coming indirectly, and made up chiefly from hearesy, does not furnish a clear understanding of the situation sfier our troops entered Jackson. It is cer-tain, however, that the place was occupled by Unionists, and if circumstances subs. quently compelled its ahandonment—and on this point we have nothing pro or con—it is more than probable that it was not until after the Pearl river bridge was hlown up or destroyed, and the railroad track so injured as to he useless to the enemy. So whether we now hold Jackson or not the rebels have been severely damaged, and souce of the purposes of General Grant accomplished.

We are to'd that General Joe Johntson passed through Jackson on the 13th with three hrigades, going towards Vicksburg, and probably designing to re-enforce the Coufed-erate army on the Big Black. This report re-quires confirmation, though the late alleged isling back to Shelbyville of the rehels in Tennessee would seem to give some color to Tennessee would seem to give some color to it. If true, we have to say that we prefer to hear of the enemy going in that direction than the other. In this councetion we may remark that the story of the evacuation of Vicksburg no doubt rests upon the fact that the Confederates, leavitg only a small garrison to man the gans, had marched out twelve miles to the Big Black to meet the expected attack of General Grant's command. It is attack of General Grant's command. It is at the Big Black bridge where the grand bat-tle is expected to take place, if at ali. We still look upon the situation of affairs in the communications of the Union army, ail his forces being concentrated on the Southern Mississippi road hetween Jacksou and Vicksburg for defense. Gen. Grant has a long line to keep open, to be sure, and much of his forcis detailed for gardson duty, but the nuluter-rupted success which has attended his operations ever since the capture of Grand Gulfieds us to helieve that he is strong enough for the emergency, and that the men are in excellent condition and spirits for the work before them.—[st. Uncertainty About the $300 Exemption.

Mosby's Cavalry Whipped.

A Drafted Regiment Runs at First Fire.

Latest From Newbern, N. C.

New York, May 20.

The Tribune's dispatch says the Secretary of War has, within three or four days, declared several times that he had concluded to construct the three hundred dollar clause in the conscription act to be permissive and not mandatory upon him, and should ignore it; but the arguments which convinced the Secretary and Senator Wilson of the correctness of this view, failed to convince Solicitor Whiting, whose opinion on questions of law is justly valued; nor is there any evidence that the Presiden', who has heretofore considered the clause binding upon the Secretary, concurs in the latter's view that its enforcement is optional with him.

It will thus be seen that the Government has not yet authoritatively decided the question, and it is not improbable that, in view of its exceeding importance, it may yet be referred to the Attorney General. Possibly either in lien of such reference, or in addition to it, the several members of the cabinet may be called upon to lay their opinions in writing before the Presiden!

It is understood that the views of the Attorney General are dimetrically opposed to the secretary of War, and New York, May 20.

It is understood that the views of the Attorney General are di-metrically opposed to those entertained by the Secretary of War, and that he holds that the iaw obliges the Secretary to fix a sum by the payment of which, to the properly appointed persons, the drafted man may discharge himself. The eventual determination of the Government under these commentaries is of course a matter of these circumstances is, of course, a matter of
